Welcome to the 2018 Open House New York Weekend!

As it has for the past 15 years, OHNY Weekend invites you inside hundreds of buildings across the five boroughs to experience the architecture that makes New York the most remarkable city in the world.

While the event remains the same, longtime fans of the Weekend will notice some major changes this year. We are thrilled to unveil a new ohny.org. The new site better reflects OHNY’s expanding role as a year-round platform for civic engagement about the future of the city. But more importantly, it was redesigned specifically with the OHNY Weekend experience in mind: it is easier to navigate, has more ways to filter sites, and—most importantly—includes a “My Itinerary” function that allows you to star the sites you are most interested in visiting. With a few clicks, you can now make a personalized OHNY Weekend guide to take with you, or share with friends as you make your Weekend plans!

The new ohny.org is supplemented by a fresh look for the event guide you are now reading. As in years past, the event guide lists all the Open Access sites you can visit without reservations (for a list of sites that require reservations, visit ohny.org). But the new layout also gives you a preview photo for every Open Access site, and reduces the text to the essentials of what you need to know about where and when to visit. Visit ohny.org for detailed site descriptions, more photos, and other access information.

The openness that OHNY Weekend makes possible is something that needs to be nurtured and celebrated. We are grateful to our sponsors, supporters, and OHNY members for investing in our mission. And as you travel around the city this OHNY Weekend, please take a moment to thank the site hosts that open their doors, and the dedicated volunteers that help make this weekend possible. Their generosity is a gift to all New Yorkers!

Best wishes for a wonderful OHNY Weekend!

Sincerely,

Gregory Wessner
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
OPEN HOUSE NEW YORK

Bill de Blasio
MAYOR
CITY OF NEW YORK
First held in October 2003, Open House New York Weekend unlocks the doors of New York City’s most important buildings to give the public an extraordinary opportunity to experience the city and meet the people who design, build, and preserve New York.

From historic farmhouses built in the city’s earliest days, to Art Deco theaters that capture the exuberance of the Jazz Age, to new buildings at the cutting edge of design and technology, hundreds of sites across all five boroughs are open to visit, with tours, talks, and other special events taking place over the course of the Weekend.

OHNY Weekend deepens our understanding of the importance of architecture and urban design to foster a more vibrant civic life, and helps catalyze a citywide conversation about how to build a better New York.

Sponsors and Supporters
The 2018 Open House New York Weekend is made possible, in part, by generous support from Porcelanosa, with additional support from Berkshire Hathaway HomeServices New York Properties and west elm.

Public support is provided by funds from the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of Governor Andrew M. Cuomo and the New York State Legislature, and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs in partnership with the City Council.

WNYC and The Architect’s Newspaper are media partners for Open House New York Weekend.

Open House New York is excited to announce the launch of a new website just in time for OHNY Weekend! Visit the new ohny.org for the most updated information about the Weekend. Everything you need to know can be found there, including site descriptions, maps, and additional images. You can even make your own customized itineraries and share your favorite sites with friends!

What You Need To Know

- There will be changes, additions, and cancellations to the listings in this booklet leading up to and throughout OHNY Weekend. Follow OHNY on Facebook and Twitter for live updates, and always check ohny.org for the most up-to-date information.
- All events are rain or shine.
- Sites that self-reported as wheelchair accessible are noted with a wheelchair icon. More info on a site’s accessibility can be found in the listings at ohny.org.
- Sites are either Open Access, which can be visited free of charge during the days and hours listed, or they are Reservations Required, which require visitors to sign up in advance. Unless otherwise noted, the sites listed in this guide are all Open Access. For a list of sites that require reservations, visit ohny.org.

Factory Friday

OHNY Weekend is now three days! On Friday, October 12 factories and manufacturing spaces across the city will open their doors for special, rarely offered factory tours.

New York City’s manufacturing community is vital to sustaining a vibrant and diverse economy by creating sustainable jobs in neighborhoods throughout the five boroughs. On Factory Friday, see what the spaces of 21st-century manufacturing look like and hear from manufacturers themselves about how everything from fabric flowers to steel beams is made right here in New York City!

Tour times for participating factories vary, and all tours are Reservations Required. Visit ohny.org/2018factories for more information and to make reservations.

Factory Friday is organized by Open House New York and Made in NYC, an initiative of the Pratt Center for Community Development.

This OHNY Weekend, Open House New York celebrates the contributions that women are making to shape the contemporary city.

Drawn from architecture, landscape architecture, and urban design, each of the participating projects in this series has a woman as one of its principal designers. The projects range from libraries and high-rise residential buildings to parks and public spaces, and together help make visible the diversity in scale, type, and program of the buildings and public spaces that women are designing throughout New York.

All participating sites are Reservations Required. To learn more about the projects and make reservations, visit ohny.org/worksbywomen

This Open House New York Weekend, the Gotham Center for New York History launches a new podcast series that explores some of the famous architectural, governmental buildings, private homes, natural sites, churches, and museums that will open their doors for Open House New York Weekend. Each recording presents a noted expert speaking about the history or importance of a given location. The narratives can be used to supplement in-person visits, and to bring the OHNY Weekend experience to anyone unable to see these historical treasures.

To listen to the podcasts, visit www.gothamcenter.org or scan the QR code.

About The Gotham Center:
The Gotham Center is a research and education center, based at CUNY’s Graduate Center, devoted to advancing scholarly and public understanding of New York City’s rich and living past. For nearly twenty years, it has been the one academic institution devoted exclusively to promoting this critical field of study. Our goal is to support independent and professional historical work examining the various forces and figures that have shaped life in the city, as well as New York’s unparalleled contributions to the development of the nation and the world.

Open House New York invites you inside the studios and offices of some of the city’s leading architects and designers. Visit the spaces where architects work, see new projects in the design phase, and meet the individuals who are designing the future of New York.

All participating studios are Open Access, meaning you can stop by during the hours noted in their site listing in this guide (look for it under the borough and neighborhood). For more information about each studio, and to see images of current projects, visit ohny.org/2018studios.

Founded in 1893, the Municipal Art Society of New York (MAS) works to educate and inspire New Yorkers to engage in the betterment of our city.

As a non-profit advocacy organization, MAS mobilizes diverse allies to focus on issues that affect our city from sidewalk to skyline. Through three core campaign areas, MAS protects New York’s legacy spaces, encourages thoughtful planning and urban design, and fosters inclusive neighborhoods across the five boroughs.

In honor of its 125th anniversary year, MAS curated a series of tours especially for Open House New York Weekend of iconic sites where the advocacy of MAS helped preserve, shape, or reimagine the city’s built environment. All tours are Reservations Required. For more information, or to make reservations, visit ohny.org/MAS125

ABOUT THE COVER
This year’s cover was shot on location on the 6th floor of Porcelanosa’s flagship showroom at 202 Fifth Avenue. The patterns on the cover are abstracted details from one site in each borough. Can you identify the sites? Visit ohny.org/cover for more information. Want your own stunning photo of the Flatiron Building? Visit Porcelanosa this OHNY Weekend; check the event guide, or visit ohny.org for details. While you are there, be sure to stop next door to tour Porcelanosa’s new building at 204 Fifth Avenue. This 1913 Beaux Arts building was home to a bank, a famous graphic design firm, and a legendary 1980s nightclub, and will soon be reimagined as Porcelanosa’s newest flagship.

COVER INSPIRATION

SPECIAL THANKS
To the 1,200 OHNY Weekend volunteers and volunteer photographers whose enthusiasm make this event possible,

To our District Coordinators, who dedicate their entire Weekend to making sure that everything is open and running smoothly.

To the Site Hosts who open their doors and welcome us in, year after year.

To our sponsors, supporters, and members, without whose support Open House New York would not exist, and to all of you—your passion for the city is a reminder that #newyorkisopen!
